Rage, published under Stephen King's pen name Richard Bachman, was ahead of its time in many ways. It was a bold move to address the subject of school shootings, and notably, this book was in print before Columbine, ESL Incorporated, Sandy Hook or any of America's notorious mass shootings that are sadly becoming a bigger commonality these days.

I guess "Rage" is Stephen King's scariest story (the first book to use his Richard Bachman pseudonym) in that it could actually happen. Maybe that hurts the entertainment value, but it is really the irritating characters that degrade the storyline the most. It is the story of Charlie Decker, the epitome of a troubled teenager.
